Hockey Director

JORDAN FRENCH

Originally from Texas, Jordan played junior hockey in the NAHL prior to transitioning into full time coaching. He spent 7 years building the Dallas Stars Elite program as the Tier I Skills Coach and Head Coach prior to relocating to Nashville to take over as the Tier I & II Hockey Director and Head Coach for the Nashville Jr. Predators organization. He has since started his own elite training and development company, Jordan French Hockey, providing professional skills coaching for current NHL, college, major junior, and youth hockey players. With 7 players drafted in the NHL, over 20 NCAA Division I players, and multiple Tier I & II National qualifying teams, it is no wonder that Jordan has become one of the most sought-after skill and development coaches nationally as well as locally. This season Jordan will be returning for his 4th season as Hockey Director for the Music City Marauders.

Coaching Staff

JORDAN FRENCH

As a Head Coach since 2007, Jordan French has successfully coached hockey teams at every age and every level. In addition to coaching Tier I (AAA) teams within the Dallas Stars Elite and Nashville Jr. Predators organizations, Jordan is now entering his 4th season with the Music City Marauders and will once again be coaching multiple teams.

MATT EDDINGER

A native of New Hampshire, Matt Eddinger has been involved with youth hockey in Nashville since moving to the city and playing Bantam AA in 1999. Since finishing playing ACHA hockey for MTSU, he has coached 12 seasons from the mite level to HS to Junior at all levels from A to AAA. He holds USA Hockey level 4 certification and was the assistant coach for a USA Hockey PW AA National Champion in 2012. His skill set is geared towards communication and work ethic, and he's consistently run successful teams that outperform initial season expectations. This season, Matt will be returning for his third season as a Head Coach within the Marauders organization.

JAKE STRONACH

Jake has been around hockey his whole life being from the Toronto area. He grew up playing high level travel hockey in Toronto and captained top teams that made both the Ontario finals and International Silverstick finals. Jake coached a 10U team for two seasons in the Toronto area and the 14U AA MCM last season. He has officiated hockey for 14 years, including junior, college club games, and the Nashville Predators prospect game. He is also involved in hockey during his work life by overseeing operations and events with Verbero Hockey. This will be Jake's second season as a head coach on the Music City Marauders staff.

KEVIN BEECH

As a player, Kevin Beech was drafted by the Tampa Bay Lightning in 2005 after playing 4 seasons in the OHL which included setting the franchise career wins record for the Sudbury Wolves. Beech's playing career was also highlighted by being named the 2009 CHL Goalie Of The Year during a 14-year pro career that ranged from the AHL to Europe. Kevin has been coaching goaltenders for over 15 years. Most of that time spent with Pro Goaltending (an elite North American Goaltending School known for helping develop NHL goalies, including Elvis Merzlikins, Malcolm Subban, and Scott Wedgewood). Beech enters his third season working with the Music City Marauders organization.
